

EU RoHS Compliance Declaration

Allegro MicroSystems, Inc. declares that it has read and understands the EU Directive no. 2002/95/CE on Restriction on Hazardous Substances, below referred to as the “RoHS Directive”. The RoHS Directive prohibits the use of certain substances in Electrical and Electronic Equipment, below referred to as the “RoHS Requirements”. After evaluation of the RoHS Requirements, Allegro MicroSystems, Inc. hereby certifies that:

All A6841SLWTR-T that Allegro MicroSystems, Inc. delivers to the Customer from the date of this declaration are and will fulfill the RoHS Requirements.

Allegro MicroSystems, Inc. is ready to provide a third party certification, of the A6841SLWTR-T (from an accredited laboratory) attesting the compliance of the product to the RoHS Directive if so requested by the Customer.

By signing this letter, Allegro MicroSystems, Inc. agrees to use its commercially reasonable efforts to assure that all A6841SLWTR-T parts shipped from Allegro MicroSystems, Inc. to Customer will comply with applicable EU rules, regulations and directives, including without limitation the RoHS Directive, meaning that no raw materials, compounds, components or products incorporated into the products supply contain any material or substance banned under said directive above allowable thresholds.

Allegro MicroSystems, Inc.

Date: 4/30/2008

Geoffrey H. DesRosiers
Quality Systems Specialist